Protect Yourself and Your Loved Ones

Here are some simple things you can do to protect yourself in extreme weather.

- Stay safe, warm/cooled, and protected.
- Stay indoors when possible. If you must travel by vehicle, know your route ahead of time and make sure you have a well-stocked emergency kit in your vehicle.
- Dress in warm windproof layers. Watch for signs of frostbite, which can occur in less than 10 minutes in extreme cold.
- Try to remain cool, hydrated, and informed.
- When working outside, do not overexert yourself. Sweating can lead to hypothermia, which can be fatal. Take cooling breaks when needed.
- Make sure your pets have shelter during extreme weather. *(courtesy of Government of Alberta)
